Department of Computer Science

Emergency First Aid Packs to Victims of Human Beasts

Vahid Kavous (Chairman)

The Department of Computer Science is pleased to announce that it has recently purchased and distributed emergency first aid packs to victims of human bites. These packs contain essential medical supplies and are designed to provide immediate care in the event of a bite. The packs were distributed to local hospitals and clinics, ensuring that those in need have access to the necessary treatment. The department hopes that this initiative will help to reduce the number of bite-related injuries in the area. For further information, please contact the Department of Computer Science.